

Meet Mr. Hogan

My name is Patrick Hogan and I am proud to be the new Assistant Principal at the Fred S. Engle Middle School. I am humbled and grateful for the opportunity to work with such a dedicated staff and a fantastic group of students.

I graduated with a B.A. from Bethany College in West Virginia where I double majored in French and Psychology. I spent the spring semester of my junior year studying at the Sorbonne University in Paris, France. I moved back to the area to complete my teacher certification at West Chester University. I am certified to teach French (K-12) and Social Studies (7-12). I completed my Administrative I Certification (K-12) and received my Master's degree in Education (M.Ed.) with distinction from Cabrini College.

I had valuable teaching experiences in multiple school districts. My first teaching position was in the Archdiocese of Philadelphia at Little Flower Catholic High School for Girls where I taught all levels of high school French. After that, I taught French at Downingtown East High School in the Downingtown Area School District. I taught French I at Kennett Middle School and French I and II at Kennett High School. I taught 7th grade Ancient Civilizations at Kennett Middle School. Next, I taught 7th grade Physical and Cultural Geography at Penn's Grove Middle School in the Oxford Area School District.

I spent 5 years working as a middle school French teacher at South Brandywine Middle School in the Coatesville Area School District. During that time I helped develop and implement a new middle school World Language program at SBMS and the district's two other middle schools (North Brandywine Middle School and Scott Middle School). Most recently, I have been serving as the Principal with Camelot Schools in the School District of Lancaster. Camelot was contracted by the School District of Lancaster to manage the district's two alternative schools – Phoenix Academy and the Buehrle School.

Please feel free to contact me with any questions or concerns. I am looking forward to working with the wonderful teachers, staff, and students at Fred S. Engle Middle School.

Sincerely,
Patrick C. Hogan
